OVERVIEW

OUR PROGRAMS

Black Men and Boys Commission: BMBC Subcommittees have each met with Economic Opportunity, Workers Empowerment, Boston Public Schools, Housing, Boston Planning and Development Agency, Office of Returning Citizens, Senior Advisor for Community Safety, Boston Public Health Commission and Human Service Cabinets. BMA will host regular working sessions with each Cabinet and invite Commission members to join on a quarterly basis.

My Brother's Keeper Boston: The MBK Alliance ensures a greater degree of access to resources (material and financial) that become available to communities that have fully completed the process. Additionally, full completion positions MBK Boston to be able to better build our national MBK Network with in-person convening options.

Project Opportunity is an initiative that creates equitable opportunities for Boston residents with CORIs. The program connects residents with free legal consultation for sealing or expunging records, has panel discussions to address challenges and solutions for residents with CORIs, connects residents with employment and training resources, connects residents with key resources for well-being, trains City departments to meet the needs of residents with CORIS. Through this initiative the office of Black Male Advancement created an all-inclusive/one-stop resource guide and webpage that includes all City of Boston-led quality-of-life improvement resources. In addition we hosted a CORI friendly job and resource fair in partnership with MassHire which included 35 employers and resources, resume review and support, job application assistance, digital business cards, and free headshots.

Community Empowerment Small Grants: BMA along with Mayor Michelle Wu awarded funding to community based organizations totaling $500,000. These grants, ranging from $5,000 to $20,000, aim to empower Black male-serving community-based organizations and amplify their impact in alignment with 7 core priorities (mentoring and out of school time, youth pathways, housing mobility, economic mobility & wealth building, workforce, fatherhood engagement, wellness). These grants will empower community organizations that serve Black men across Boston's neighborhoods to deepen their impact and bring successful programming to scale.

R.E.A.C.H. 1000: BMA is working in partnership with BPS to connect young people with a network of individuals and organizations that serve as mentors. To support the first iteration of this program, BMA is looking to recruit 1,000 adult mentors over the next two years to connect with participating BPS students. As part of R.E.A.C.H. 1000, schools and mentees will have access to the following programs and learning opportunities: Black studies through dual enrollment; financial literacy; reading literacy, digital literacy; college and career pathways; and Generational Talent Small Grant. Mentees will also have an opportunity to engage with an Opportunity Lab, tailored for BPS Black seniors. The Lab will offer expert level technical support to scholars with their post secondary level plans, including higher education and careers.

Capacity Building & Impact Institute: This initiative will allow CBOs servicing the Black Male Community in Boston, to receive 1 on 1 coaching, nonprofit training courses, expert tools, & resources to help raise funds, maximize impact, and build capacity. The pilot cohort will consist of CBO'S with proven or promising programs that share our core values and are highly aligned with our strategies, goals and approaches to deepen their impact or bring their work to scale.

Black Men & Boys Commission

The Commission was established through a 2021 ordinance and is made up of 21-Black males with experience, knowledge and expertise on issues pertaining to Black men and boys in the City of Boston. The Commission serves as an advisory board for the Mayor's Office of Black Male Advancement, including determining budget and policy priorities.

The Commission seeks to study the social conditions of the city's Black men and boys, develop strategies to remedy or assist in remedying serious adversities, and make recommendations to create equal opportunity for education, employment, access to public accommodations, and fair housing, significantly improving the life trajectory, physical, mental, economic and emotional wellness of generations of Black men and boys in the City of Boston.

Policy Advocacy

Several policy changes, as a result of the Office of Black Male Advancement's advocacy, as well as budget proposals to the City Council for FY25.

Recent Policy Change

Black Male Advancement Supported Policy Changes

- Boston Public Schools Offering AP African American Studies in 10 High Schools: Advanced Placement (AP) African American Studies is being offered at 10 high schools in the 2023-24 school year. Boston Public Schools (BPS) will provide the opportunity for students to read culturally affirming texts, and engage in discourse about Black history, culture, and the extraordinary contributions and accurate stories that have long been neglected and marginalized.
- Equitable Literacy in BPS: Equitable Literacy Instruction is a commitment by BPS to enacting research-based literacy/bi-literacy practices that provide all students, especially those who have been historically underserved, to fully realize their brilliance and become readers and creators of powerful text.
- Newly Signed Contracts with AFSCME Council 93 and SEIU Local 888: The contracts showcase a first for the City of Boston by including set dollar amounts in the wage increases instead of exclusively relying on percentage increases. The unions represent workers in departments including Public Works, Parks and Recreation, the Inspectional Services Department, the Boston Centers for Youth & Families, the Registry, Elections, among others.
- \$21 Million to Support Behavioral Health Services, Programming for Youth and Families: The investments are part of the City's response to the urgent need for more mental health supports for young people and to develop a larger and more diverse behavioral health workforce. These investments over five years will serve more than 50,000 students, directly impact 21 BPS schools, support more than 600 people in pursuing behavioral health careers in Boston, grow and diversify BPS mental health staff, and provide more than 1,000 people with behavioral health training to better serve youth and families in Boston.
- The Mayor's Youth Sports Grant: will distribute up to $80,000 to non-profit organizations aiming to eliminate barriers of entry for student athletes. The goal of the grant is to improve access to youth sports for Boston Public School (BPS) students and provide fiscal support to non-profit organizations to enhance sports programming. The grant announcement builds on ongoing efforts to increase youth sports participation in Boston. The City recently hired a Youth Sports Initiative Manager and a Recreation Program Manager to help make athletic opportunities more easily accessible for all Boston's families.
- Colon Cancer Screening in Communities of Color: Because colon cancer screening can help catch cancer early when it's most treatable, the Boston Public Health Commission and the Colon Cancer Coalition launched a multilingual campaign to encourage early screening, especially in Black and Latinx communities. The campaign began this March during Colon Cancer Awareness Month and includes messages in English, Haitian Creole, and Spanish.

Black Men & Boys Commission's Budget Recommendations

Based on community listening sessions, monthly Commission meetings, previously shared 2023-2024 policy recommendations, working sessions with various city agencies, and meetings with Mayor Michelle Wu, the Black Men and Boys Commission recommended the following FY25 budget proposals to address systemic barriers and improve outcomes for Black men and boys in Boston.

The Commission requested new investments for the Office of Black Male Advancement for an equity study, data collection, data dashboards, and monitoring and transparency across City of Boston departments.
